NOW GET MARRIED.

We will send a copy of the COMMERCIAL, free, to every new bride in the city of Ypsilanti, Ypsilanti town, Augusta, York, Milan, Pittsfield, Saline, Superior, Salem, Sumpter, and Van Buren, until March 1st, '81, who will promptly send us a notice of her marriage, and her address.

Personals are solicited. All persons going on a visit or having friends visiting them from abroad are requested to notify us by mail or otherwise.

Forepaugh at Ann Arbor Oct. 4th.

The music of our presses was heard during the Fair.

Every body Fair Days wanted their jobs at 11 o'clock the day before.

The Maxwell's have been playing at the opera house during the week. To-night they have on the board "The French Spy."

Our thanks are due to the Secretary of The Washtenaw County Fair, which occurs next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for complementary tickets.

Mr. F. S. Finley was the lucky winner of the splendid fruit bowl and caster, given by Littlefield & Weeks, for the best six gallon crock of butter at our fair.

Our galleys are chuck full of subscribers names and still they come, compelled to order new galleys. Don't be afraid friends, always room for one more in the coach.

GENEROUS—Ex-Gov. Bagley has presented the University with portraits of the Presidents of the United States, from Washington down to the present time, including also that of James A. Garfield, the next President.

Prof. D. Putman is the Principal Protem of the Normal school. The classes, an almost unprecedented thing were organized and ready for work in three days. The Normal school is onward and upward. Every Ypsilantian will rejoice.

The COMMERCIAL last week invited every body from Dan even to Barsheba to come to the Fair. Thursday the invitation was accepted and the east gap was emptied into our fair city. Every body went home pleased. Quite a stream of people came in to see our running presses, not a few either subscribed anew or paid up their dues.

The Ladies Library Association will add a large list of new books to their library the first of October. It will comprise all the new publications. Histories, travels, poems and works of fiction. October first, will be the beginning of the last half of the library year, and the ladies of the board would cordialy invite the public to come and subscribe for the ensuing half year and enjoy a fine variety of winter reading. A list of the books will be published next week.

The Democrats at Saline nominated Mr. Edward King as candidate for representative. A first-rate nomination to be beaten by another first-rate candidate. F. J. Sawyer psesided over the convention Mr. E. M. Spencer our celebrated meat market man received eight votes on the first ballot, Mr. King nineteen, Geo. Alban two. The next ballot Mr. King received twenty-three. Mr. Spencer declined to run on the ground of being as yet a carpet bagger in this state, Mr. King being notified of his nomination by the committee C. R. Whitman and J. S. Henderson, and introduced to the Convention, accepted in a neat speech. Mr. King is a granger and an old resident of forty-seven years in this city and town. A district committee was appointed. Albert Crane, Dr. D. R. Mc Lachlen and B. F. Gooding.

Last Monday afternoon about three o'clock as a man named Clancy, living four miles south of Stoney Creek, was driving down Congress St., toward the iron bridge, the box of his lumber wagon slid onto the horses starting them on a run. When they reached the east side of the bridge, Clancy was thrown out, the wagon passing over his breast. The team ran on for a short distance coming in contact with another wagon and doing some damage. Clancy was picked up and taken into the blacksmith shop of Johnathen Purse, where he remained till nearly seven, when he was taken to the Barton house on a door. His son, a middle aged man took him home, and reported the next morning that he was doing well. While he was at the blacksmith shop Dr. Batwell was called, and gave as his opinion that when the whiskey worked off the man would be all right. He evidently had been drinking, or he would have been able to have held his team.

NORMAL ITEMS.

School closed Thursday for the fair.

The students attended the fair Thursday afternoon.

The different committees will be appointed by the presidents of the societies this week.

Rev. J. M. Richmond and Rev. Horton were visitors at the Normal school this week, and took part in chapel exercises.

Many students of last year did not return until this week; and by their return the number classfied has been swelled to something above four hundred. There are more new students this year than ever before. The secretary of the Zealots has received from the Eclectic Society of the agricultural college an invitation to send two delegates to a proposed meeting of the representatives of one society in each college in the state for the purpose of forming a state organization. Action will be taken by the society to-night, and the invitation will probably be accepted.

The students should not over look the advantages which the Normal library offers to them; it contains all the standard works on history, philosophy, criticism, and education besides the standard novelists, poets, and reviewers, not to speak of four or five different Cyclopaedias, and lexicons of the English, French, German, Latin, Greek, and Spanish languages. Besides this there are received at the library a goodly list of the better class of monthlies, as "The Popular Science Monthly." "The Northwestern, Review," etc. "Scientific American and Supplement," and several school journals are also to be seen there. The library is open every week day during school hours, and Saturdays from 10 A. M. till 12 A. M. and 2 to 4 P. M. Students broaden your knowledge of literature.

THE OPERA HOUSE LAST MONDAY EVENING.

The McCullough entertainment, Knowles tragedy, Virginius was a grand success. The nett receipts were 637,00. The beauty and chivalry, all classes of Ypsilanti society, church goers in abundance were there. Those who seldom attend an operatic performance paid the tribute of their presence to Mr. McCullough to witness superior attainments in tragedy. Nor were they disappointed. While Virginius did not draw out his full oratorial talent, yet it displayed the almost perfect actor, his masterly control of muscle, emotion, voice, of all those elements that contribute to enthrall and entrance an audience. Miss Kate Forsyth can not be beaten as Virginius, Icillus, F. B. Wade did nobly. Appius Claudius, Edmond K. Collier was the proud ruler of Rome, in manly bearing and speech, and prepossessed the audience not in his cause, but in his complete acting. The performance held the audience in such wrapped interest as to seem scarcely an hour. In fact over two hours. Every part was so well sustained that the company seemed to be a part and inspiration of the brain of the great Tragedian himself.

PERSONALS.

Miss Mamie Putnam has gone to Battle Creek to teach.

Sen. Jacobs of Ann Arbor made us a pleasant call Tuesday.

Mrs. Roger Crippin and her youngest daughter left for Caro to visit her friends in that place yesterday morning

Mrs. Emma (Jeness) Saunders returned Tuesday to her home, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

J. H. Wilcocx returned on Tuesday last, from New York, where he has been spending a few days with his mother and family.

Mrs. P. Stevens left Tuesday to spend a few months with her daughter in N. Y. city. Mr. S. still on the wing making Barnes Bros., Detroit rich.

Mrs. Abel, of Wayne accompanied by her son and daughter, has been visiting her friends Dr. S. W. Pattison and Mrs. H. Haskin.

Fred Cutler, for years the popular gentlemanly clerk at the Follet house, has accepted a like position in the Brunswick, at Detroit.

Mr. Charles Emerson and wife from Dixon, Ill., are spending a few days here and are the guests of Mrs. W. B. Martin.

Miss Gertie Ferris, of Detroit is spending a few days with Miss Carrie French.

Miss Matie Waring from Utica, N. Y., is visiting her grandfather, Capt. John Lacy.

We received a call from Rev. Mr. Dunning yesterday. He has returned to his charge at Stony Creek.

Dr. D. A. Post and wife returned from Vermont last Saturday. Mrs. Post, whose dangerous illness we had announced to our readers, came home convalescent and since has been improving rapidly.

HON. R. E. FRASER AT LIGHT GUARD HALL.

The hall was crowded. Mr. Fraser made a superb effort and it did heaps of good. He first spoke of the right of the citizen to change his opinions. A change upon good and substantial grounds is the highest index of an indipendent, thinking man. Born and bred a member of the Democratic party he had imbibed all the prejudices incident to partisanship. But he looked over the country, saw the workshops closed, thousands of idle men out of employment, the hum of industry silent, and he was led to enquire the cause. He with thousands of others was led to believe that it was the resumption act pressing down upon the throat of the nation's financial prosperity, that the repeal of this act and the re-issue of Greenbacks, the increase of silver dollars would break the spell and create a revolution that would be of invaluable benefit to the people. Sherman, the great financier of this age, probably without an equal in the nation's history pressed through great opposition in Congress, the resumption measure in the letter and spirit of the act to the day of its full accomplishment, and then the nation and the world beheld a transformation that struck the greenbacker dumb and put new life and vitality into the supporters of Specie payments, mainly in the Republican party. His Greenback theories dissolved into thin air, the foundation was knocked out from under him. The workshop doors sprang open as if by magic, prosperity such as this country has seldom seen and upon an apparant solid basis, was visible through the nation, and so upon financial questions he became a Republican. But aside from this his eyes were now opened. He saw that Hayes was giving us the best administration of affairs this country had ever had. He saw the atrocities practiced by the ex-rebel element of the south upon the rights of citizenship, and that the Democratic party of the North was silent and consenting. He made up his mind that the liberties of the citizen, north and south could never be mentained until in every part of the nation every legal voter should be protected in his ballot. It would be impossible to give the impressiveness of this speech, his peculiar manner, anecdotes, illustrations etc., During the speech the ladies threw several boquets upon the platform. The Ypsilanti Band discoursed fine music. The table in front was decorated with flowers. The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for Garfield and Arthur and three for Bob Fraser.

Wade Hampton says "the Republican party is a party of hate." If this had been true, Wade Hampton would not be alive or in the senate to tell it.

Senator Conkling predicts 30,000 Republican majority in New York.

THE FAIR.

Contrary to the expectations of the "fearful," the weather was favorable to the opening of the fair, and the prospect good for a full exhibit, in nearly all departments.

TUESDAY

Being the first day, the grounds were not crowded. But few sight seeres. No admission fee was taken. The day was spent in receiving and classifying. The stock had not yet made its appearance. Swine were pretty well represented, and those interested in fowls had brought a full display. The hall were being rapidly filled. The display of vegetables will equal in quality if not in quantity that at the State Fair. The furniture dealers and others were at work in the main hall. We noticed a taking picture by our young artist Ed. Thompson. Floral hall seemed to be pretty well taken up by the Ypsilanti Green House, though we saw several contributions from private parties. The display of machinery was large and varied. The water power was supplied by one of P. Ferrier & Son's engines. Exhibitors of agricultural implements seem to be ahead, in time at least, of all others. Strolling around we came upon a small tent, which we were told was intended to exhibit "curiosities." A dance hall was in process of erection. We looked in vain for the revolving swing and wooden ponies kept in motion by a jaded nag. We supposed they were fixtures at all fairs. None of the churches seemed desirous of making money this year by feeding the inner man, and meals were served under the grand stand by G. R. Anderson. The booths were mostly vacant but in one or two could be seen preparations for the ever ready peanut and candy man, whose musical voice would charm the rustic on the morrow. The only excitement was on the part of a few colored boys who were seated on top the hall opposite the judges stand, holding heated discussions over the merits of a few trotters whose best qualities are known to their owners. No money was at stake but the drivers put on as many flourishes as though they were driving $10,000 steeds. The great trouble seemed to be to get the horses to trot together. One would run while the other trotted, and when No. one, settled down to a trot, the other would take a turn at running. Nevertheless it was fun for the boys.

The officers and exhibitors were in good spirits and looked forward for a good day

WEDNESDAY.

And it came, but did not bring a crowd, although the receipts for entrance fees equaled the amount taken in the second day last year. The different departments were filled better than Tuesday and it began to look a little like a Fair. There was quite a display of short horn cattle. Sheep pens were well filled. The horses did not attract much attention. Some good blood was exhibited, but this department was below the average.

The halls showed the good effect of yesterdays work. Main hall was mostly filled by our enterprising merchants, Wallace & Clark and Mac & Mac, both made a good display of furniture. Frank Smith could not be confined to a small space. His Emporium made a good display. C. S. Wortley & Bro. filled the vacancy in the centre by a stand of ready made clothing.

The harness department was represented by C. L. Yost, and the hardware by Drury & Taylor and J. Stevens & Loomis. Littlefield & Weeks, were bound their crockery and glassware should be seen and for that purpose kept the lamps burning. They also reflected their light upon H. A. Weeks display of groceries. Sewing machines of "all" varieties. Canned fruit made out the list, if we include the Taber organ, exhibited by Chas. E. Samson. He distributed bills freely showing its merits.

Floral hall was tastily arranged and attracted those having an eye for the beautiful. We saw several admiring the flowers from the Ypsilanti Green House. The Ann Arbor Green House also made a good display. The department of jewelry was well represented by S. H. Dodge, and Barnum & Earl. Milinery by Mrs. Curtis, and photography by Mrs. Parsons. Ladies work of all descriptions filled the walls.

The ladies are deserving of great praise for the ellegant appearance of Floral hall.

Those having charge of the vegetable, fruit and seed department, deserved credit for the tasty manner in which they had arranged the articles on exhibition. The hall is naturally dark and unforbiding and the roof being used for a stand, dirt is shaken down from above, making it very disagreeable. The display in this department first class.

The most interesting feature of the fair was the machinery, all running. The principal exhibitors were Thompson and McCullough. Parsons & Bro., and Martin & Lang had wind-mills in opperation.

Considerable attention was attracted by a patent plow harness, exhibited on a team by Merrill A. Frost. The whiffletrees were under the horses thus saving great trouble in turning around etc.

As we expected the swing was in operation and near it was a womam begging the crowd to throw the balls for a nickle, and a man trying to keep the crowd there by performthe thinest slight of hand tricks, immaginable. Dancing slow. The show of wonders was not patronized. Sale of confectionary limited. No racing. Every body waiting to see what

THURSDAY

Brings forth.

It brought a crowd from every direction, making the fair a financial success. General attention was given to the machinery and halls. The ladies were especially pleased with the floral hall, the display of flowers as well as works of art, being highly lauded. The various catch-penny institutions were in their element. Sturdy sons of toil who complain of hard times dive into their pockets and bring up the last dime for the pleasure of "tripping the light fantastic" before the public gaze.

Great interest was taken in the races. Race No. One was completed. Purse $50. 1st prize, $25; 2d, $12.50; 3d, $7.50; 4th $5.00. Prizes taken as follows:

J. Conlen names ch. g. Jake-3-4-4-1-4-4.

The race was postponed till ten o'clock Friday morning.

There were three entries in the bicycle race which was taken by Gil. R. Osband, state editor of the Evening News. The distance run was five times around the track.

One extra running race was thrown in between "Tony" owned by Ol. Trowbridge, of Dearborn, and "Nigger Jim," owned by E. Kissan. Two heats were run, both taken by "Tony" although "Niger Jim" managed to get a head start both times. The first heat was hotly contested.

The entries were large as the table will show:

The Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York, have just republished Blackwood's Magazine for September. The two serials, "Dr. Wortle's School" and "Bush Life in Queensland" which have been running throught several numbers, are continued. Besides these there are several short articles and sketches of the kind for which this periodical has long been distinguished. Such are "The Bayard of the East," which gives an outline of the career of Sir James Outram, a distinguished officer of the Indian army, whose achievements won from his contemporaries the above title; and "A Week in Athens," a very interesting description of the remains of the ancient city, ending with a strong recommendation to travellers to go at any time to Athens. Under the head of "New Novels," a goodly number of recent publications of that description are passed in review, with brief accounts of the plots, and sundry extracts illustrative of style. The reviewer pronounces the trade of novelist "The most inexhaustible, the most indispensable of arts."

The periodicals reprinted by The Leonard Scott Publishing Co. (41 Barclay Street, N. Y.) are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

When in Detroit a few days ago we made it a point to visit some of the large establishments. We visited one which deserves special mention. We refer to the mammoth dry goods establishment of Freedman Bros. & Co., just above the Campus Martius. We were shown throughout the entire place by the obliging proprietors and were surprised at its extent. The ground floor is given up to dry goods, silks, laces, etc.; the second floor to millinery; the third floor to curtains, and the fourth floor to carpets. A fine elevator extends from basement to roof and every convenience is apparent. We think not a person visiting the city should fail to visit this place.

REPUBLICANS!

A welcome is proposed to Congressman Willits befitting his services in Congress—a watchful, untiring, and able member—at

LIGHT GUARD HALL

on next

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 28,

Ladies, bring on your floral tributes.

Hon. A. J. Sawyer will accompany Mr. Willits. His able speech four years ago is remembered. TURN OUT for a grand rally. Everybody, of all shades of opinion, is invited.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The victory in Maine is purely a Green back one.

The receipts at the State Fair were last year $26,000. This year something over $20,000

Poor Hancock! ain't he to be pittied? Extending his congratulations to Greenback victories.

Two years ago the majority of the Democrats and Greenbackers in Maine was 12,288. Now it is a a plurality of 174.

The Greenbackers can wear the high feather. Plaisted's plurality, 174. The Democrats can retire behind the curtain.

That solitary democratic senator in the Vermont legislature will be lonesome, but he will at least have absolute control of the caucus.

The first result of the report of a Fusion victory in Maine was a disturbed money market and a decline in the prices of securities. Significant!

South Bend, Ind., had a Republican procession last Saturday with 110 Polanders, who have hitherto voted the Democratic ticket, carrying torches.

The Bay City Tribune says "that of 274 methodist ministers present at the conference just held in that city 270 were for Garfield, 3 for Hancock and 1 for Weaver.

The straight out Greenbackers in Maine refuse to endorse fusion and have placed an electoral ticket with their great leader, Solon Chase, at the head. Thus die the fusionists.

Harper's Weekly says that there is nothing more striking in this campaign than the fact that the indpendent vote is almost universally favorable to Gen. Garfield." It is certainly one of the most cheering aspects of the situation.

Much to our disapointment we were unable to attend the Fair this week. Matters inside the office and outside pressed us on every hand. Our reporter was there part of the time but was not able to give as extensive a report as we had intended.

Frazer didn't draw worth a cent at Ypsilanti last Friday night, although his coming had been announced through the COMMERCIAL and by flaming posters. It was to be a Republican meeting, but only about 150 persons condescended to attend, and a number of them were Democrats who had a curiosity to see the great political acrobat in the role of a greenback, prohibition republican reformer. They went, they saw, they heard him, and a more disgusted small crowd probably never got together before in this county.—Ann Arbor Democrat.

The above is not simply venom. Some scamp misinformed the editor, or he wilfully lies. At least 500 went home delighted with Mr. Fraser's speech, Democrats as well as Republicans. An intelligent Democrat says 600. We are content with 500.

Hon. Henry Waldron was 61 years old at the time of his death. At the early age of seventeen he had graduated from Rutger's college N. Y. He became a resident of Hillsdale in 1839. In 1842 he was a member of the Legislature. In 1848 an elector on the Taylor & Fillmore ticket. In 1844 he was elected to Congress, serving six years. In 1870 he was reelected and served six years longer. The Hillsdale Standard says:

Mr. Waldron had a habit of bestowing charity in such a manner that his left hand knew not what his right hand did. One of his pleasures was to send loads of provisions to the poor in Hillsdale every Christmas day.

We quote from the Lansing Republican.

No man has served the state of Michigan so long in the lower house as Mr. Waldron, and no one possessed sounder judgement, a more equable disposition, or more energy when it was required. His maiden speech on the "Crime against Kansas" in 1855 was commended by Horace Greeley as the ablest effort of any new member. Mr. Waldron leaves a large estate, the fruits of industry, frugality, and a thorough knowledge of finance and book keeping, in the pursuits of trade, manufacturing and banking.

Congressman Horr had a big time in Detrot last week. This is the way he turned the tables upon the Free Press:

A messenger who had come up the aisle handed Mr. Horr a telegram, which he stopped and read. He continued as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen, you will pardon me if I digress for a moment to say to you that this morning the Free Press announced to the people of Detroit that Congressman Horr of the eighth district would explain to an audience in Music hall to-night his immense labors in Maine. [Laughter and applause.] Let me read to you the following dispatch:

AUGUSTA, ME, September 16, 8 P. M.

Returns received every hour strengthen our conviction that Davis is elected by the popular vote. JAMES G. BLAINE.

As soon as Mr. Horr had read the above dispatch the audience became wild with enthusiasm, and cheer after cheer rose. Men threw their hats in the air. Shouted themselves hoarse, and for sometime individual voices were entirely lost. As soon as quiet had been sufficiently restored to enable to be distinguished, a voice at the back part of the hall cried out "three cheers for Maine," and in an instant the enthusiasm broke out anew, and the cheers were given with a will. When Mr. Horr could be heard he continued:

This is signed by a man who knows what he is about—James G. Blaine. [Prolonged cheers.] Last night I was compelled to talk upon this Maine business when I didn't know as much as I do now. [Laughter.] I said to the boys down at Monroe, "I have heard from Maine; I have heard the yells and the hallelujahs go up for the last two days as I have been traveling through the country. The very men that are shouting hallelujah now are the men who I remember were shouting hallelujah when we lost the first battle of Bull Run." [Applause and cheers.] I said to them, "The battle of Bull Run, while it was a disaster, was the salvation of this nation and the ruin of the southern confederacy." I told them this news from Maine would only nerve the arm of the Republicans of this country, and we will once more give these rebels the same dose we did before. [Cheers.] But I have since had light on this subject. [Cheers.] I wish to say for the benefit of the Free Press, I will repeat what their article of this morning says, "The jig is up; as Maine goes, so goes the Union." [Prolonged applause and cheers.] These fellows remind me of the darkey who went to hear Whitefield preach. You have all heard about it, because it is an old story. He went fifteen miles to hear Whitefield. After he had been listening about 10 to 15 minutes he got the power. Down in the road he went, and rolled in the dirt and floundered about in the dust. They finally got to him and they said, "Why, Sambo, what's the matter?" "Oh," he says, "Massa Whitefield! just hear Massa Whitefield!" "Why," they said; "that isn't Mr. Whitefield at all; Mr. Whitefield went away from here two days ago." "What?" he says, 'not Massa Whitefield? then I have rolled in the dust for nothing." That is just about the condition that our Democratic friends all over this country are in to-night. [Loud laughter.] From their editors down to their roosters, they are feeling awful sick. [Laughter and cheers.

FAITHFUL COLLECTION OF THE REVENUE.

Then again, under the administration of President Hayes, the revenues of the government have been honestly and faithfully collected, and honestly and faithfully disbursed. Tables have been carefully made showing the losses that have occured in the receipts and disbursements of the public money, and these exhibit the fact during this administration the losses by defalcation have been reduced to the smallest percentage that has ever been shown in any administration of this government, or of any other known to us.—Sec'y. Sherman.

MINISTERS AND POLITICS.

What part should the clergyman take in the consideration of politics? There is a prevalent opinion that he should stand aloof from partisan politics; he may think but should neither speak nor vote. This is a contemptible opinion. The clergyman is a citizen, clothed with all the rights and responsibilites thereof. He is a constituent in the body politic and should vote with his fellow citizens. He should have well-defined opinions on all questions of State, and should be expected to express the same without "fear or molestation." As a student of history, of practical ethics, and of the bearing of political questions on the religious condition of the world, he should be a leader of thought. But inasmuch as in this country the throne and the altar are distinct, the clergyman should not, in the exercise of his sacred office, intrude his political opinions on those who differ from him. The pews have a right to their opinions in such secular matters, and, as in all congregations there are good men and true, who opposing partisans, the pulpit should be free from all that savers of party politics. But all partisans will reverently listen to their pastor in preaching political ethics and enforcing upon each conscience the responsibilities of citizenship. This is a wide and splendid field of ministerial usefulness. Prophets and apostles did not hesitate to denounce the sins of rulers and call the people to righteousness. They grappled with living issues and proved themselves the men for the hour. The American pulpit is shamefully weak in this regard. The moralities of every day life should be the frequent theme of a Sabbath discourse. While good sense and propriety thus limit the political province of the minister, yet all good citizens would cordially approve of every clergyman participating in the common duties and privileges of citizenship.—Ballou.

The World says the Republicans do not know that the war is over. Well, the old rebels do not give them a chance. While such speeches as Wade Hampton's are made, and while it is plainly evident that there is no repentance in the south, how can anybody say the war is over? Actual clashing of arms does not alone constitute war.—Cincinnati Commercial.

There was a time when the American people had a public conscience, and a stern one; when men were ready to resist a wrong to the death, or die in the defense of righteousness, freedom and honesty; when it was dangerous to trifle with high principles, or to put out the moral lights toward whose shining beacons the fathers and mothers of the land directed the faces of their little ones, and taught them the old-fashioned lessons of honesty and fair play. Shall all these lights be put out, and the nation be left to sit in darkness, and be given over to the dominion of evil?

Gen. Weaver says there is no possible doubt that the Greenbackers carried Alabamma and were swindled out of the election by a dishonest count.

Don t Make a Mistake.

Why will you use salves and lotions, and other outward appliances for the cure of skin diseases? The relief thus obtained can only be temporary. Why not strike at the root of all skin diseases by getting your blood and liver in a healthy, vigorous condition? This can only be done effectively and thoroughly by the use of Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. 845. 1 yr.

Old, Tried, and True.

Remember Dr Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is not a new, untried compound. It has stood the test of forty years' use, and has proven itself to to the best vegetable compound ever discovered for curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, skin and blood diseases, liver complaints, urinary troubles, etc. 845. 1 yr.

SALE OF STATE TAX LANDS

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
LANSING, MICH., July 1, 1880.

Notice is hereby given that certain Lands, situated in the county of Washtenaw, bid off to the State for taxes of 1878, and previous years, and described in statements which will be forwarded to the office of the Treasurer of said County some time in September, will be sold at public auction, by said Treasurer, at the County Seat, on the first Monday of October next, at the time and place designated for the ordinary Tax Sales, if not previously disposed of at this office, according to law.

Said statements contain a full description of each parcel of said Lands, and may be seen on application at the office of the County Treasurer.

Lands struck off to the State for taxes of 1878 or other years, at the Tax Sales in October last, will be offered subject to the right of redemption prescribed by law, as well as to the right of purchase of the State bids at this office, prior to the sale.

W. IRVING LATIMER,
Auditor General.

ANNUAL TAX SALES.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
LANSING, MICH., July, 1, 1880.

So much of each of the following described tracts or parcels of Land, situated in the county of Washtenaw, delinquent for unpaid Taxes, for the years mentioned below, as will be sufficient to pay the taxes, interest, and charges thereon, will be sold by the Treasurer of said county, on the first Monday of October next, at such public and convenient place as he shall select in Ann Arbor, the county seat of said county, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

W. IRVING LATIMER,
Auditor General.

COUNTY, STATE, AND GENERAL NEWS.

BELLEVILLE.

Rev. S. L. Ramsdell returns to Belleville for another years's labor. His people welcomed his return, and hope his labors may be blessed abundantly.

Died, In this place Sept. 17, Mrs. Angel, after a very brief sickness.

Died, Sept. 14, one of the oldest and best known settlers, Mr. Wm. Sands age 73 years. He has held a number of offices, and was highly esteemed.

Mr. Coy had about ten bushels of onions stolen from his field one night this week.

Dr. Foster is minus grapes.

Mr. D. Quirk and family of Ypsilanti, including his son in-law and family Chicago, were the guests of Dr. Forbes on the 17th. An enjoyable day to all. Mr. Q. said it was the first visit not associated with business that he had made within nine years. Mr. Younglove spent much of his time with a rifle shooting peaches from the trees.

One of our young men went to Ypsilanti to hear McCullough, but he did't enjoy it at all. His lady was sitting with another man. He declares he just felt like seeing a real tragedy.

"The melancholy days have come." for our ears were greeted by the voice of a female to her husband, who was a few rods distant. "I want you to come right staight home and put up that stovepipe." But the defiant husband replied "I know you too well, you can't run me."

A new organ has made its appearance on Liberty St.

From the Lansing Republican.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL PRINCIPAL.

In refereence to Prof. M. MacVicar, who has recently been elected to and accepted the principalship of the Michigan State Normal school at Ypsilanti, we take great pleasure in presenting the following:

Rev. Malcolm MacVicar is a native of Argyllshire, Scotland, where he was born Sept. 30, 1829. His father, John MacVicar, came to this country with his family in 1835 and settled in Chatham, Canada, where the subject of this sketch spent the most of his time until 1849, when he went to Toronto, preparred for college, and took a part of his college course at Knox college, paying his way by teaching. He was ordained a minister of the Baptist denomination, and spent three years in preaching and in conducting a young men's preparatory school. H came to the states in 1858, and completed his college course at the University of Rochester, graduating in the class of '59.

He immediately engaged in teaching at the Brockport collegiate institute, near Rochester, where he was professor of mathematics from 1859 to 1863, and principal from 1863 to 1867; also principal of the N. Y. State Normal School at Brockport in 1867-68, he having reorganized the school. In 1868 he was called to the superintendency of public schools in the city of Leavenworth, Kansas. His health demanding a change he accepted the position and spent about a year in reorganizing the schools, but was recalled to New York in the following spring to organize and take charge of the State Normal School just being established at Potsdam, where he has remained as principal to the present time.

As a teacher he has been an enthusiast from the very first, and has always been eager in seeking out more natural and perfect methods of imparting instruction than generally prevailed. He was active in promoting and shaping the legislation that authorized the present normal school system of the State of New York. Upon the request of the state superintendent of public instruction he mapped out the plan of the schools, which was substantially adopted. He organized the first school under the new law, and now three of the other schools are under principals that have been members of his faculties.

Meanwhile his pen has not been idle. He did important work in the revision of Robinson's series of arithmetics, etc.

But in the department of methodology he has been especially active, both in the study and in the work-shop. Among his illustrative contrivances may be mentioned the "object frame," for illustrating arithmetical relation; the "example frame," to facilitate teaching rapid work, and the "Tellurian globe." He has prepared also a series of arithmetics bearing his name, in which method and illustration receive the first attention. A number of handbooks on various subjects also bear his name, and testify to his industry. His latest work is an outline of the philosophy of education, not quite complete, prepared at the instance of the Normal School Principals of the State of New York, to serve as a basis of method teaching in all the schools.

Thus he stands among the first educators of the country, and if he were ranked as the very first, in his line, probably no man in the country would dispute the claim.

His ability has been recognized by the regents of the University of the State of New York in conferring upon him the title of "doctor of philosophy," which it did in 1869, his alma mater adding the LL. D. the following year.

There is no man in the Normal School work of the State from which he comes whom that State could so illy afford to spare. Michigan is greatly to be congratulated in being able to secure him.

THE KIND OF TEACHERS TO EMPLOY.

County Superintendent D. D. Parker of Richland Center, Wis., in a circular of suggestions to country school officers, says:

"Get the best qualified teacher that your means will command. One who has not got to the top of the ladder in his own estimation, but one who is still advancing. You cannot afford to employ the same teacher to teach the same lesson in the same manner term after term. The person who cannot get a better certificate now than when he was last examined, is not the person you want to teach your school. The person who does not attend any of the places for self-improvement, is not the teacher you are looking for. The person who is actively engaged in other business, and imagines he can make a few dollars out of you besides, is not the person to create and maintain a thorough interest in your school, and therefore do not employ him."

HANCOCK'S PRINCIPLES.

To give force to a political point, Captain Bond tells, with great effect, the old story of the devil and the preacher when upon a certain occasion they met and had a little friendly conversation:

"Good morning, Mr. Devil," said the preacher. "Will you be so kind, Mr. Devil, as to tell me what you know and what you can do."

"Oh, yes, with pleasure," replied the devil. "I know all things and can do all things."

"To convince me of your power, Mr. Devil, will you do what I tell you? queried the preacher.

"With pleasure," again replied the devil.

"Please, then, Mr. Devil, level down this mountain."

After scratching around the base for some time, the devil gently elevated the mountain upon the pitchfork which he usually carries, and scattered it out on the valley below.

"Now, Mr. Devil, will you dry up the river?" again requested the preacher.

"That is a very small matter," replied the devil, and at the same time Satan blew his hot breath upon the bosom of the river, and it was dry.

"This convinces me of your power, Mr. Devil," said the preacher. "Now if you will as satisfactorily answer my questions, I will also be convinced that you know all things."

"Proceed," said the devil.

"Can you give a rule for the solution of the fifteen puzzle?"

The devil promptly gave the required rule.

"Now, Mr. Devil, will you solve a number of difficult theological problems that have puzzled the wise men of all nations since the creation of man?"

As they were named by the preacher they were promptly and correctly solved by Satan.

"Now, Mr. Devil," said the preacher, "last of all will you tell me what are the principles of the democratic party?"

This was a stunner. The devil tucked his tail between his legs and quickly disappeared around the corner, without even attempting to answer the conundrum.

The Man on a Mission for the State Central Committee.

Who Combined Business With Politics.

A solemn-appearing stranger, seated in a travel-stained buggy, which was drawn by a horse that looked like Dore's picture of Rozinante, reined up in Titusville the other evening. The stranger stood up in his vehicle, glanced up at the town clock, bowed to the people passing on both sides of the street, and said:

"I come unannounced and unheralded, but at the earnest solicitation of the State Central Committee.

A dozen people stopped.

"The times are out of joint; oh, cursed spite, that ever I was born to set it right," remarked the stranger in a loud voice. "But the State Central Committee insisted so hard that I had to come down among you."

The crowd was swelling rapidly, and inquiries passed from lip as to the speaker's identity.

"I think it's Col. Forney," suggested a man on one side of the street, while on the other side the rumor was being rapidly circulated that it was Stanley Mathews, of Ohio, who had consented to come here and look after the vote for Garfield.

"I come unheralded," said the strange man. "not simply as a matter of taste, but as a matter of policy. I do not myself like these immense civic displays, and in saying this I do not want to reflect upon our people for their magnificent reception of my friend Gen. Grant. His was an exceptional case.

"I believe it is Garfield himself," said a man sitting on a curbstone.

"I wouldn't be surprised if it was Hancock," suggested another, as he glanced into a shop window to compare his face with a chromo of the general.

The stranger cast his eyes slowly over the crowd, and continued:

"The interest which you manifest assures me that you are alive to the great importance of this campaign."

"We don't want traitors to run this government!" shouted the man who thought the speaker was Gen. Garfield.

"Right, right you are my friend," responded the speaker pleasantly. "This is the grandest country the sun ever shone upon. We want men, honest men, men of wisdom, integrity and patriotism to rule this God-given government." Then, raising his eyes to a ten-cent flag that fluttered from a window sill, he apostrophized it;

"Flag of the free heart's hope and home, by angel's hands to valor given, thy stars have lit the welkin dome, and all thy hues were born in heaven."

The eloquent words of the speaker called forth loud cheers from both Democrats and Republicans, not withstanding the cheapness, in a money point of view, of the particular copy of the flag referred to.

After the applause had subsided he went on; "As I have said, the State Central Committee—"

"What Central Committee?" enquired a man who was anxious as to the speaker's politics.

"I am a plain, blunt man, and I will not have proceeded far until there will be no occasiou to ask 'under which king, bezonian?' The people demand a change. [Cheers from the Democrats.] The people of this country have been swindled long enough. Democratic yells, and cries of 'Give it to 'em hot and heavy.'] Gentlemen, I have known Gen. Garfield long and well, and he is one of God's own noblemen. [Cheers from the Republicans.] As a president he would adorn his country. [Loud cheers.] I also know Gen. Hancock. I consider him the very best type of the handiwork of our creator [Tumultuous cheering by the Democrats.] But gentlemen, it is principles, not men, that we must look after now."

The speaker paused, took some documents from the buggy seat, while the crowd wondered hopefully what side of the house he was on anyway.

"This is an important crisis in our country's history," he began, "and historians will so record it. I dare say you are all sick of politics and politicians." [Cries of "We are! We are!" "Give us honest men!"]

"Yes, my friends. give us honest men! That is the Macedonian cry that meets me everywhere, and it strikes a responsive chord here in my heart of hearts. How many gentlemen are there in this vast concourse of intelligence, who say "down with politics?" [A hundred voices, "Here, here, here!"]

"Now we understand each other. I am down on politicians like a pile driver. I profess to be an honest man, and I have that here in this little parcel," and he held up a small tin box between his thumb and finger, "which I am proud to recommend to honest men of whatever political party. I call it the Saint's Rest, or the Epluribus Unum Corn and Bunion Eradicator. With it I can remove the worst chronicle case of corn, bunion, wart, or other excresence that ever defiled the fair form of man or woman.—Free Press.

AROUND THE WORLD.

A fame that is world-wide and acquired in the short space of a few years, must have true merit for its support. Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines have gained such fame and the foreigh orders for his Golden Medical Discovery—the greatest blood-purifier of the age, for his Pleasant Purgative Pellets Pellets (little sugar-coated pills), his Favorite Prescription—woman's best friend—and other remedies became so great, that a branch of the World's Dispensary has been established in London, England, for their manufacture. From this depot they are shipped to every part of Europe, and to the East Indies, China Japan, and other countries. Their sale in both North and South America is perfectly enormous and increases yearly. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. DR. R. V. PIERCE:
Dear Sir—I take pleasure in writing my testimony with others in regard to your valuable medicine. For a long time I have suffered from disease of the lungs and until I used your Discovery found nothing that did me any good. Thanks to it, I am relieved and cecommend it to all. Yours truly,
MARY KENNEL.

There is some modesty due from the Democracy on the Maine matter. They are the third party in Maine, and a poor third at that. In 1878 they polled but 27,872 votes to the Greenbacker's 41,404. Last year the Democrats had but 21,668 votes and the Greenbackers 47,590. The Democrat's proportion of the total vote of the state was in 1878 but 22.15, and in 1879 but 15.66 per cent. They are the tail of the Fusion dog.

The Russian Court invited Dr. Ayer and his family to the Archduke's wedding in the Royal Palace. This distinction was awarded him not only because he was a American, but also because his name as a physician had become favorably known in Russia on its passage round the world.—Pueblo (Col.) People.

At a recent political meeting in Pennsylvania, Mr. H. C. Chisholm, son of Judge Chisholm, who was brutally murdered by Democrats in Mississippi in 1877, was one of the speakers. Arising to address the audience he placed his hand on his heart and said: "My Republicanism lies here. It was paid for by the blood of my father, my brother, and my sister, who were murdered by Democrats. Can you blame me for being a Republican.

The poisnous germs that infest the human system are driven out by Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic.

People with thin heads of hair should use Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer to make the hair grow out thick.

Bob Ingersoll's infidelity has its off years during presidential campaigns. He now acknowledges that there is some hell—down south; and a number of personal devils—in the Democratic party. He also owns to a belief in future retribution, which he thinks will begin on the 2d of November next.

MORTGAGE SALE.

By a mortgage executed by Charles W. Ford, mortgagor, to Watson Snyder, mortgagee, bearing date the twenty second day of August in the year Eighteen hundred Seventy-Two, and recorded on the thirtieth day of August, Eighteen Hundred Seventy-Two, at ten o'clock A. M., in the office of the Register of deeds for the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, in Liber 49 of mortgages on page 287, Charles W. Ford duly mortgaged to Watson Snyder, "All that certain piece or parcel of land situate and being in the city of Ypsilanti and the county of Washtenaw and state of Michigan, known and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the south line of Congress street, formed by the intersection of the east line of Washington street with the south line of Congress street, thence south along the east line of Washington street one hundred and thirty two feet, thence east forty-nine feet, thence north, parallel to the east line of Washington street, fifty-two feet, thence west sixteen and a half feet, thence north, parallel to the east line of Washington street, eighty feet to the South line of Congress street, thence west along the south line of Congress street to the place of beginning."

The amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is twenty-two hundred and eleven dollars, besides the attorney fee of thirty dollars therein named.

Default has occurred in a condition of said mortgage by which the power of sale therein contained has become operative, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of said mortgaged premises at public vendue, to the highest bidder, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, which sale will be made on the fourteenth day of December, A. D. 1880 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the South front door of the Court House in the city of Ann Arbor in said County, said Court House being the place of holding the Circuit Court within said County.

Dated, September 11th, 1880.

MINISTERS RECOMMEND IT!

AND EVERYBODY SPEAKS WELL OF IT.

It has cured most stubborn cases, when every other known liniment has failed. Why suffer, dear reader, when a remedy so sure and simple is now within your reach. Read, please, the testimony of those who have used it and prove its value.

Wm. A. Throop, of Detroit, says nothing but Spaulding's Lighning Linament ever did him any good.

Len. I. Clark, formerly of Howard House, Detroit, says it has done wonders for him.

Chas. Redfield, Adrian, Mich., says it cured his daughter, who has suffered years with Rheumatism.

Wm. C. Gustine, Grand Rapids, Mich., says he has been a chronic sufferer from inflammatory Rheumatism in his knees and feet for ten years, and nothing but Spaulding's Lightning Linament ever did him good.

Mr. F. P. Way, Printer, Detroit, says his wife, (who had not been able to walk across the room for months) after using a few bottles of Linament, walked about quite comfortably.

☞ The Linament is now for sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per bottle, only one size.

Garfield Rang The Bells At Hiram.

[It is tradition that General Garfield began his student life at Hiram college, serving as janitor to pay his tuition. The Youngstown (O.) Tribune says that O. D. Haven of Cleveland penned the following song immediately after the announcement of General Garfield's nomination for president.]

Garfield rang the Hiram bells
In "Auld lang syne."
He rang them loud, he rang them long,
He rang them sharp, he rang them strong;
In "Auld lang syne"
Garfield rang the bells at Hiram.

But, when his country called for men,
He threw aside his book and pen
And donned the sword and army blue,
And a thrashing good to the rebel crew
He gave with all his might.
Three cheers, three cheers, we give to-night
To him who rang the Hiram bells
In "Auld lang syne"
He rang them loud, he rang them long,
He rang them sharp, he rang them strong;
Garfield rang the bells at Hiram.

And when the battle din was done,
And the union cause was won,
When the banner of stripes and stars
Waved above the trailing bars,
His hand and heart at once he gave
To serve the nation that he helped to save
The one that rang the Hiram bells
In "Auld lang syne."
He rang them loud, he rang them long,
He rang them sharp, he rang them strong;
In "Auld lang syne"
Garfield rang the bells at Hiram."

Now glory to our flag of blue,
And glory, for the hand so true
That bore it through the crimson sea
Shall bear it still to victory.
Three cheers we give the man of War—
To the man of peace, hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!
For him who rang the Hiram bells
In "Auld lang syne."
He rang them loud, he rang them long,
He rang them sharp, he rang them strong;
In "Auld lang syne"
Garfield rang the bells at Hiram.

THE MERRY, CHEERY WHISTLER.

I wonder how many of us realize what a pleasant thing a man's merry whistle is around the house? Show me a man who whistles at his work, unconsciously as a bird sings just because the healthy good spirits that are in him must find some vent, and I know at once that there is a happy, cheerful temper that makes light the burdens of life, has a merry word and a kind deed for everyone, is a good, considerate husband and companionable father.

"That's Walter," said a young wife in my hearing the other day. "I hear his whistle," and her face grew soft and radiant as she laid aside her work to run and meet him. Happy wife whose husband's coming is always heralded so merrily. Dickens says that "there is nothing so full of associations as a smell," but I think a sound is at least equally so—particularly the sound of a whistle. Why, even the dogs know that, and start up alertly at the cheery sound.

An old negro woman was once telling me of "Auld Lang Syne" and the "dear young mars'r" that she nursed, who went for a soldier and was killed long year ago, and in recalling him she made this remark: "It 'pears to me, Mists, dat de thing whar hu'ts me mos' de wusest 'bout de boy was dat I wa'nt gwine to hear him come whistling f'm de house no mo'. He had de clearest, prettiest whistle, you eber heard; jus' same as a mockin' bird. 'Pears like I kin hear him now comin' 'long an' jus fixin' for to holler 'Mammy, where is my gun?' or 'Mammy, jus' you hold dis bandage a minit while I set ole Tiger's leg,' an' den away he'd go whistlin' same as a lark. Lord! I'd gib a heap for to hear dat soun' agin 'fo' I dies."

I am like her, and yearn most for the "sound of the voice that is still." Let the boys whistle, therefore, mothers, and rest assured that, even if they are noisy around the house, it is happy, harmless noise, and will help to keep them cheery and sunny-tempered, so that they will grow into healthy, genial men, and the women they marry will listen with loving hearts for the merry sound which tells of their coming.

Although such a warm advocate of this accomplishment in the sterner sex, I confess it has no charms for my ear if the performer is a girl or a woman (although I know some girls who whistle like blackbirds and saw lately an account of a woman making her living that way). I am an old fogy however, and don't like it, holding firmly by the old adage that

"A whistling woman and a crowing hen,
Are neither fit for God or men."

So the women must make sweeter music in our lives in other ways than that. I see that one at least of "The Household" band likes letters descriptive of scenery, "particularly Southern scenry," she says, so next time I will try and paint for her this "bright beautiful Valley of James" which is so dear to my heart. I would wish her to see it before it is cut and spoiled by the railroad we are threatened with, to take the place of the dear sleepy, charming, tiresome and perfectly safe old packet boat.—Free Press.

From the Christian Herald.

PRESIDENT JAMES BURRILL ANGELL.

When a student in Brown University, class of 1835, the writer had occasion to sally out from Providence in a south-westerly direction, a distance of some twenty miles by stage, to a point known as Waterman Hill, in the northwestern part of the old township of Coventry. On the way, in the town of Scituate as he remembers, the stage halted for refreshments and an exchange of horses, at a well appointed tavern, kept by a gentleman and lady in middle life, two well developed persons in body and mind, dressed in a manner suited to their calling, and always on the alert to do the needed duty in the most effective and pleasing manner. Every thing about the premises, both outside and in, wore a notably neat and prim appearance, which appearance, to my eyes, was enhanced wonderfully as exhibited in the persons of four or five children, mostly daughters, of whom I now and then caught glimpses through a door or window, though they never placed themselves on exhibition to attract the attention of travellers.

Time passed on. My course of study at Providence and Newton closed; I was settled in the ministry of the word, took to myself a wife from Waterman Hill aforesaid, when my route of travel changed, so that I ceased to pass and repass

ANGELL'S TAVERN.

The boy, who was born and grew up there, afterwards was graduated at Brown University, became President of the University of Vermont, afterwards of Michigan University, and is now the accredited ambassador of the United States to the Empire of China. President James Burrill Angell, the flaxen headed boy, of ten years old or less, has gone out from the home of his childhood to be a ruler and educator of the people and a prince among princes, a negotiator of treaties between two mighty nations.

I could give the readers of the Herald a list including a large part of the names of persons now holding amongst us the first rank as educators, preachers and writers, who came out from early homes of like industry, frugality, honesty and obscurity, and have worked their way up to their present position of influence. How my fingers ache to write out a list, beginning with Anderson, ending with Weston, and taking in at least a hundred between these, but I forbear. I knew them all at their very roots, even G. D. B. Pepper, when on the sand plain with his parents at Old Ware, Mass., and can trace them as they have struggled onward and upward.

Let all the boys, and girls too, read this and take notice. Your time will come; if not in one place, in another; if not in this position, in that; in the very one, be sure, you are best adapted to fill and adorn. Do your best in what you daily undertake, and the rest will come.

J. G. WARREN, D. D.

AN "EASY" PLACE.—Henry Ward Beecher received a letter from a young man, who recommended himself very highly as being honest, and closed with the request, "Get me an easy situation that honesty may be rewarded. To which Mr. Beecher replied: "Don't be an editor, if you would be 'easy'. Do not try the law. Avoid school-keeping. Keep out of the pulpit. Let alone all ships, stores, shops and merchandise. Abhor politics. Keep away from lawyers. Don't practice medicine. Be not a farmer nor a mechanic, neither a soldier nor a sailor. Don't study. Don't think. Don't work. None of them are easy. Oh, my honest friend, you are in a very hard world! I know of but one 'easy' place in it. That is the grave."

Louisa S. Haviland a well known teacher at the South says:

It is impossible for pen to describe, brush to paint, or tongue to express the wrongs, outrages and murders still heaped upon the long and sorely oppressed descendants of Africa, of whom tens of thousands are the descendants of the present Caucasian blood of England, France, and every other nationality in the catalogue of the human race. And why are they compelled to repeat David's complaint to-day?

"Lord, how are they increased that trouble us? Many are they that rise up against us. Many there be which say of our soul, 'There is no help for them in God.'"

We find thousands of this crushed race trusting in Israel's God to lead them away from the home of their birth, upon which the curse of slavery rests.

Archbishop Secker one day said to Wesley, "Could you a hundred years hence look out of your grave, you would see abundant reason to regret your present course." Wesley's answer was, "God goverened the world before I was born, and He will take care of it when I am dead. Present duty is mine—events I leave to him." More than a hundred years have gone by since the day of Archbishop's remonstrance, and could Wesley now look from his grave and see what impetus to the zeal of the christian world, he would far likelier sing as he once delighted to sing amidst derision and flying stones, "I rejoice that I ever was born."

The Cleveland Plaindealer remarks that "Republicans are whining at the 75,000 Democratic majority in Alabama." Not at all. They only wonder at the modesty that puts the figures so low. By the same means it might just as well have been 100,000 or 1,000,000.

MAKE HORSES MORE COMFORTABLE.—The Michigan Farmer says flies may be kept from troubling your horses by rubbing on their legs, and bodies a weak solution of carbolic acid. It is a good preventive. Or take one pound of black walnut leaves, put in a quart of water, let them stand a few hours, then boil half an hour, strain off the liquid and when cold it is ready for use.

Gen. Weaver was sure the greenbackers would gain a victory in Alabama, but the confederate democratic majority has already been reckoned up to 75,000, and if necessary will be carried to 100,000. The analysis of these election figures show the same old story of gross and barefaced frauds, and that Carolina, knew well what he was talking about when he pledged the "138 votes of the solid south" to Hancock.

Hine of the Lowell Journal vividly describes the sentiments of the following gentlemen: "Hurrah for Hancock and English!—Bob Toombs. 'Rah for Hancock!—Ben. Hill. 'Rah for Hancock!—Hamburg Butler. 'Rah for Hancock!—Jeff. Davis. 'Rah for Hancock!—Gen. Beauregard. 'Rah for Hancock!—Wade Hampton. 'Rah for Haucock!—Ku Klux. 'Rah for Hancock!—Bulldozers. 'Rah for Hancock!—Southern 'Regulators.' 'Rah for Hancock!—Keepers of Libby and Andersonville and Salisbury. Three cheers and a tiger for Hancock and English!—Solid democratic south."

An English actress, passing along a street one day, heard singing. She looked in at an open door upon a little prayer meeting, and caught the words—

Depth of mercy can there be
Mercy still reserved for me?

She entered, listened awhile, and then went away; but the hymn went with her. She became a christian, and determined to leave the stage; but the manager would not release her from fulfilling her engagement. The last night she played with unusual brilliancy, and at the close was called before the curtain. Her contract was discharged; she had no master now but Christ. Standing there with clasped hands and streaming eyes, she sang:

Depth of mercy! can there be
Mercy still reserved for me?
Can my God his wrath forbear—
Me the chief of sinners, spare?

The audience was melted by the pathetic confession and plea, and many sought the same mercy.

Peel potatoes and cut crosswise in large slices, salt and pepper, dip each slice into wheat flour, then into beaten eggs, and fry at once in hot lard; serve hot.

WHAT EVEN SIX FARMERS CAN DO.

If only six substantial farmers in a town are agreed, they can organize and sustain a club which will put life into the agricultural and social culture of that town.

The blacksmith has sometimes been called the king of mechanics, and this is the way he is said to have earned the distinction.

The story goes that, during the building of solomon's Temple, that wise ruler decided to treat the artisans employed on the famous edifice to a banquet. While the men were enjoying the good things his bounty had provided King Solomon moved about from table to table, endeavoring to become better acquainted with his workmen. To one he said:

"My friend, what is your trade?"

"A carpenter."

"And who makes your tools?"

"The blacksmith," replied the carpenter.

To another Solomon said:

"And what is your trade?" and the reply was:

"A mason."

"And who makes your tools?"

"The blacksmith," replied the mason.

A third stated that he was a stone cutter, and that the blacksmith also made his tools. The fourth man King Solomon addressed was the blacksmith himself. He was a powerful man with barred arms, on which his muscles stood out in bold relief, and seemingly almost as hard as the metal he worked.

"And what is your trade my good man,' said the king.

"Blacksmith," laconically replied the man of the anvil and sledge.

"And who makes your tools?"

"Make 'em myself," said the blacksmith.

"Whereudon King Solomon immediately proclaimed him King of Mechahics, because he could not only make his own tools, but all other artisans were forced to go to him to have their tools made. —Blacksmith and Wheewright.

A CROSS BABY.

Nothing is so conductive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man, remember this.—Traveller.

MAINE NEWS.

Hop Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, billiousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them say they cannot be too highly recommended. Those afflicted should give them a fair trirl, and will become thereby enthusiastic in the praise of their curative qualities.—Portland Argus.

TWO ORGANS,

Regulate first the stomach, second the liver; especially the first, so as to perform their functions perfectly and you will remove at least nineteen twentieths of all the ill that mankind is heir to, in this or any other climate. Hop Bitters is the only thing that will give perfectly healthy natural action to these two organs.—Maine Farmer.

A Queer Notion.

Many people think it cheaper to buy 25 cent sizes of a proprietary medicine. But they make a mistake. For instance, Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry contains about eight times the quantity of ordinary 25 cent balsams. Becides it takes a less quantity of Wistar's Balsam to cure a cold. A single dose is often sufficient. For deep seated Colds and comsumption it has proven itself to be the best and quickest cure ever discovered. 845 1 yr.

Stop That Cough.

If you are suffering with a severe cough, cold, asthma, bronchitis, consumption, hay fever, loss of voice, tickling throat, or any affection of the throat or lungs, use DR. KINGS NEW DISCOVERY for Consumption. This is the great remedy that is causing so much excitement by its wonderful cures, cures thousands hopeless cases. Over one million bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery have been used duthe last year, and have given satisfaction in every instance. We unhesitatingly say that this is really the only sure cure for throat and lung affections, and can cheerfully recommend it to all. Call and get a trial bottle for ten cents, or a regular size for $1.00. For sale by Frank Smith, Ypsilanti. 859-1y. alt. 4.

For Thirty Years.

For thirty years Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has been kept for sale by druggists generally, and in all that time there has not been a single complaint made, but on the contrary the druggists and the people acknowledge it to be the best remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Comsumption; Bronchits, Asthma, and all lung Diseases. 845 1 yr.

It needs but little intelligence to see that it is a Gasoline Stove. To be appreciated it needs to be used but a very few days. For facility of operation, for comfort to the operator, and for light draft on the family exchequer, there is no other stove fit to be named the same day in comparison with it. In the matter of the estate of Maria Cook deceased

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Sarah C. Parsons praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court, purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate, and that Watson Snyder and Thomas Ninde may be appointed executors thereof, or that administration with the will annexed may be granted to herself,

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the eighteenth day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legatees, and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further Ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the YPSILANTI COMMERCIAL, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

WILLIAM D. HARRIMAN,
[A TRUE COPY] 862 Judge of Probate.

Junior Buckeye MOWER.
Don't fail to read the following before purchasing.

Parties in want of a Lawn Mower should not fail to see the NEW BUCKEYE.

A few of its merits are

1. It is about one-third lighter than other mowers in the market.
2. Simplicity, strength, and durability.
3. Ease of working and not liable to get out of order.
4. All parts requiring strength are made of the best quality of iron and cast steel.
5. The gears are so located that it is impossible to clog them with cut grass.
6. The wheels are 7½ inches in diameter, and both drivers, so that it runs lightly and will cut turning either right or left.
7. When drawn backward the ground wheels only reverse motion, consequently is more easily handled.
8. It has three cast steel revolving cutter blades, set at such an angle with the stationary knife, as to give a perfect shear cut.
9. The cutter bar is made of cast steel tempered and is easily adjusted.
10. Has an adjustable roller running the entire width of the machine to regulate the height of cut. See directions.
11. It has adjustable handles and adapts itself to irregularities of the surface.
12. Can sharpen it yourself without going to a repair shop. See directions.
13. It is a perfect "little beauty," being compact, thoroughly made and beautifully finished. In short, it is the most perfect Lawn Mower ever placed udon the market.

Don't fail to ask for the NEW BUCKEYE.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. FROM

REV. P. N. GRANGER,
Presiding Elder of the St. Alban's District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan, 20th, 1880.

DR. J. B. KENDALL & Co., Gents: My experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring bone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Resdectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Office U. S. Marshall, Western Dist. of Mich.
Kalamazoo, April 15th, 1879.

I received the two bottles of your spavin cure forwarded by express in January last. I am happy to state that it performed all your advertisement called for. In three weeks after I commenced using it the spavin was entirely removed and a valuable horse restored to usefulness.

Verry truly yours, JOHN PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, and yet it is penetrating, and powerful to reach any deep seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a linament is used on man or beast. It is known to be the best linament for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.
